The Charges of Fraud in the Indian Bureau.

GENERAL OVERHAULING OF ACCOUNTS.

A Sample of Medical Supplies and the Expense.

SITTING BULL'S UNWELCOME PRESENCE.

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, June 24, 1877. PRAUDS IN THE INDIAN BUREAU-A SPECIMEN

BILL FOR MEDICAL SUPPLIES. The committee of gentlemen selected by Secretary Schurz to make a searching investigation of the charges of fraud in the present and past administra-tion of the Bureau of Indian Affairs are getting down weeks in taking testimony, the inquiry so far having been confined chiefly to the accusations made of fraud in the management of the financial business of the North Carolina Cherokee Indians, with an occasional diversion to the question of alleged missing papers, said to have been destroyed in the nterest of certain Western Indian agents whose reputation would be sadly compromised by their existence and too close a scrutiny of their character. In this connection the charge is also made that some old papers pertaining to the accounts of Brighem Young during the time he was Indian agent in Utah Territory bave disappeared, a charge into which the committee will likewise make inquiry. These matters, particularly the accusations against the Cherokee Indian Agency, are not very new and are more or less familiar

The committee will enter to-morrow upon another and an important branch of the investigation. This is the charge of gross fraud in the purchase of medical supplies by the ring in the Indian Bureau. At first sight there may not seem to be a field for the exercise of any very startling dishonesty in the purveying of the medical stores which are bought and shippe the Indian tribes: but the sample of a fraudulent bill cited below as well as the fact that Uncle Sam, in the considerate care of his Indian wards, expends for them annually in the purchase of medicines a large part of the usual yearly appropriation or eight millions devoted to their welfare reveals only too clearly the extent to which frauds in this line can be carried. Again, the prices of medicines are a sealed book to the average man, and the dishonest manipulation of a medicine account, by collus on with the seller, could be accomplished with less chances of discovery than are possible in any other class of goods. Indeed, no kind of merchandise offers equal facilities for concealment of fraud in dealings therein. It is easy to understand, therefore, why dishonest practices in the purchase medicines have been so successful. Ninety-nine times in a hundred a bill of this kind would pass and, as testimony will, it is said, show, have passed the routine of the several auditor's clerks of the Treasury Department without detection.

The bill already referred to, and which will be offered, it is promised, in evidence to-morrow is dated paid for them as stated in the bill are given in the first three columns. The actual market value of the same goods, according to a contemporaneous price current with which comparison was made, is shown in the last or right hand column :-- and he will recognize the fraud at once. Indeed, the household experience of many a man not familiar with the drug business will furnish him with sense enough to perceive that the prices have been swellen in some cases to a hundred times their right figure. He will readily understand that flaxseed, which is charged at nearly $1 a pound, is something he often bought for a shilling, but benzoic acid or some other chemical would easily escape detection at $2 an ounce. But the whole bill, when subjected to the test of the market prices, which have been quoted from a reliable work published in the year 1873, shows the grossly outrageous swindle perpetrated upon the government, the extent of which can only be determined by the number of such bills said to be in the accounts of the Indian Bureau and running back for many years. The bill above is receipted by nerwise reputable drug firm in New York, whose complicity in the fraud is, therefore,

Let any druggist look		Committee of the Commit	the bill

That such a paper could pass through the routine of payment by the Treasury without col-lusion on the part of government officials is out of the question. A bill for medicine arises usually in connection with a request from the Indian agent on the frontier. This request is preferred to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, whose duties are largely discharged by his chief clerk. The medicine "sacketed" by the finance clerk of the Indian Bureau, from whom it is returned to the Commissioner; thence it goes to the advisory institution known as the Board of Indian Commissioners, where it is approved, and that it escaped detection at their hands is nothing strange when it is remembered that a leadthrough whose gross carelessness the funds of the Freedmen's Bank were loaned out upon all sorts of fancy stock and scrip. From the Board it goes back to the Commissioner again, thence to the Second Auditor, back to the Commissioner, thence to the Secretary of the Interior Department, by whom a requisition is made for the money upon the Second Comptroller, and thence to the warrant division, where

A guilty knowledge on the part of the officials of the Indian Bureau with reference to the bill above cited will be established. It is said, by a Dr. Curtis, who was a clerk in the bureau in the year 1873. Dr. Curus, who was a surgeon in the army, settled here after the war, and, in default of practice, obtained a cierkship n Washington. In some way, not now explained, the mil chanced to come under his observation during its passage through the prescribed routine, and, knowing naturally a good deal about the prices of medicine, he denounced it as full of coormous overcharges. For this information he was secused of "meddling" with business with which he had nothing to do, and was eventually discharged He had become dangerous to the ring, and had to be put out of the way. His testimony will be taken to-morrrow. It is also promised that a well known wholesale druggist in Washington will testify that he was invited to sell drugs to the Indian Bureau, but with an intimation that he would have to pay a percentage for the settlement of his bill. He found it useless to deal honestly and at ordinary market rates with the bureau, and he gave up trying to do busines with it. It would be emfair to the Auditor's office to say that I such prepostereus bills passed it unquestioned. They were often detained and excepted to, but a special ap-plication from the Indian Bureau, with an assurance that they were "all right," stopped examination and induced their hurried passage.

The parties alleged to be implicated in the Indian Burcau are more than a lew. It is the general belief that the present branch of the investigation is directed at the Chief Clerk, Mr. Galpin, but that gentleman's friends vouch earnestly for his honesty, and make the point that the fraudulent bill figuring so conspicuously in the charges is dated in 1873, or over two years before he came into office with Secretary Chandler. There are other and as grave charges to be investigated yet by the committee affecting other dealings and transactions in the bureau, so that the extent of the discoveries to be made is far from apparent just now. The committee sit with locked doors and refuse for the present to make their proceedings public. SITTING BULL'S PRESENCE IN CANADA-ATTI-TUDE OF THE DIPLOMATIC QUESTION. The War Department is not yet in possession of any of the facts officially presented in regard to the disa Canadian dominions, nor have the papers been placed before the State Department as yet, though the British Charge d'Affaires here has made an oral presentation of the matter to the Secretary of State. A consultation is to be held in Canada at an early date at which Indian affairs are to be fully discussed. Commissioner Smith, of the Indian Bureau, take part in it, representing the resis of the United States. It is interests of the United States, It is understood that the embarrassments arising from the presence of Sitting Bull in British America will engage attention. It is preed here that the British government should cause the arrest and confinement of all the Sloux chiefs lately hostile and surrender them to the United States for punishment as outlaws and murcapture them. If the British authorities suffer them to be amicably received and to remain it is no affair of the United States, because we should be a lad to get rid permanently of the Indians on such terms. At the State Department the view is held that if the Indians have gone into Canadian territory as emigrants, singly or in small groups, the United States has no authority to interiere because it recognizes the right of self-expatriation; but should it appear that the Indians have gone over in a body armed and for the purpose of invasion, then inter ference would be necessary and imperative. In the present condition of things the Secretary of State is ot called on to apply any exercise of authority because no such violation as an armed invasion of

GENERAL WASHINGTON DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, June 24, 1877. THE ARMY APPROPRIATION BILL-OPINIONS IN MILITARY CIRCLES-PROSPECTS FOR THE RE-

SUMPTION OF WORK IN THE ARSENALS. The opinion is expressed in military circles that the regular Army Appropriation bill will not be passed soon after the extra session of Congress convenes on the 15th of October next. It seems to be the impression that a joint resolution will be passed soon after that date appropriating neces-sary money to pay the rank and file of the army, but on account of the determined effort to reduce the army the regular Appropriation bill may be put off until the last of the extra ession or the first of the regular session. Should this be the case, work in the arsenals, which will be suspended on the 1st of July, cannot be resumed early n November, as was at first anticipated, and the 60 workmen thrown out of employment will be kept idle until the passage of the regular Appropriation bill.

NAVAL INTELLIGENCE.

THE TALLAPOOSA AT NEWPORT. [BY TELEGRAPH TO THE HERALD.] NEWPORT, R. I., June 24, 1877.

The United States steamer Tallapoosa, Captain McRitchie, arrived at the torpedo station from the Portsmouth Navy Yard to-day with supplies. She will touch at New York and Norlolk, and proceed from the latter place to Washington.

THE NAVY YARDS.

PROSPECTS FOR THE RESUMPTION OF WORK. WASHINGTON, June 24, 1877. There is every prospect that work will be resumed at several navy yards soon after the 1st of July, when at several navy yards soon after the 1st of July, when the appropriation for the next fiscal year becomes available. There are three vessels now on the stocks which can soon be finished and resdy for sea. They are the Nipsic, at Washington; Galena, at Norfolk, and Mohican, at Mare Island. The two last named are to carry eight gans each and the Nipsic six. It is the intention of the Secretary of the Navy to use the appropriation for the next fiscal year for the repair and preservation of vessels, maintenance of the navy, &c., and not apply it to the liquidation of debts contracted by the department before he came into office on account of insufficient appropriations, and thus exhaust the whole appropriation before the fiscal year shall have half expired.

THE CHICAGO COLLECTORSHIP.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE HERALD.]

CHICAGO, June 24, 1877. The latest information from Washington city concerning the Chicago Collectorship seems to indicate that the office will fall to William Renry Smith, who that the office will fail to William Henry Smith, who has probably been the most prominent candidate for the office. It was at first thought that Smith would not accept the position even though it be tendered him, but this is denied by his friends who have been most diligent in advancing his claims for the office.

The report that General Juinus White had withdrawn from the contest with the assurance that the Turkish mission would be offered him in the way of compromise, seems to be without foundation. In an interview with General White to-day a Herallo correspondent was informed that the matter had nover been suggested to him one way or the other, and he had therefore never given the subject shy consideration.

THE FISHERS (Les Pécheurs). By Th. Leschetizky

Mme. Essipoff made this composition of her husand's familiar to those who attended her concerts during the past seasou. The piece is written in four flats and is simple in construction, but it needs to be well played to show its beauties, which are many.

RETURN FROM ARROAD WALTZ. By Rudoiph Aronson.

C. H. Ditson & Co.

Mr. Aronson has been fortunate enough to have had his waltz played by Gilmore's Band, which does it better justice than the plane. From the reputation of this young composer we imagine that this cannot be a fair specimen of his work. The theme is monotonous and the arrangement not very original. To tell the truth, there is a suggestion of his having returned from abroad by way of Bayreuth.

This song is above the average and is not without

Mr. Thomas is a very unequal composer. He often writes really beautiful songs, and then again songs that are only commonplace. "Haunting Eyes" is among the latter, but still it has a certain sweetness that Mr. Thomas' music is never wholly without.

YOUTHFUL GARROTERS.

Two young rufflans, supposed to be members of the "Swamp Gang," at ten o'clock last evening, while making a desperate attempt to garrote Mr. John Abbott of No. 95 William street, were arrested and safely housed in the New street station. It appears that Mr. Abbott, who is represented as a respectable business man, was proceeding leisurely home, and had reached the corner urely home, and had reached the corner of Spruce and William streets, when he was suddenly confronted by two suspicious looking young ruffinns. Mr. Abbots attempted to pass them, when the thieves suddenly closed in upon him, and while one attempted to garrote him the other hurriedly attempted to appropriate his watch and the contents of his pockets. Mr. Abbots suddenly made a break for liberty, got away with his watch and valuables and made Flora Temple time down William street. The young ruffians, not to be baiked, followed him in hot pursuit. At the corner or Fution and William streets was Officer Peters, who, in a few brief words of conversation with Mr. Abbots, took in the situation and started for the garroters. Other officers who were in the neighborhood joined in the chase, and both were secured. They gave their names as James Moore, agod eighteen years, of No. 4 Monroe street, and George Fitzgerald, aged seventeen years, of No. 78 Frankfort street.

FIRE IN THE BOWERY

Officer Brennau, of the Fourteenth precinct, discovered a fire last night in the Oriental dining saloon, kept by John Reynolds, on the first floor of No. 132 Bowery. It had been caused by the igniting of escaping gas. The fire communicated to the diferent spartments located on the ground floor ferent spartments located on the ground floor and burned through the woodwork into the ceilar. The ceiling soon became absze, and the flames, which gained rapid headway, were not extinguished by the fire companies, which promptly answered the officer's aiarm, before the stock of Graft & Ferry, the photographers, was damaged to the amount of $500. The third floor was occupied by the Neptune and Cornucopia lodges as assembly rooms, and the damage done the furniture by smoke and water will aggregate about $200. Reponder loss is set down at $2,500. The building is probably damaged to the extent of $5,000.

The funeral services of the late Francis A. Mallison, or many years a well-known journalist of Brooklyn, were held yesterday alternoon in the Johnson street Methodist Episcopal Church, The congregation was methodist Episcopal Courch, The Congregation was composed largely of men and women who had known the decased during life, and who had come to pay a last tribute of respect to his memory. The sermon was preached by Rev. William H. Russell, pastor of the church, who spoke of the esteem in which the decased was held by his many friends, and of the good qualities which endeared him to those with whom he came in contact. The remains were interred in Greenwood Cametery.

OBSECULES OF A JOURNALIST.

A PATERNAL ESCAPADE.

[From the Elmira Advertiser.]

A laughable incident occurred at Perry, recently, which caused much sport and the circumstances of which are as follows: -An old gentleman who had two handsome daughters was so cautious of his charge that he would not permit them to keep the company of young men. However, they adopted the following expedient to enjoy the company of their lovers :- After the old man had retired to rest the girls would hang a sheet out of the second story window and Jim and Charley would seize hold of it, and with the assistance of the girls, would thus gain entrance. It so happened last Sunday evening the girls hung out the sheet ladder too early, for the old man, by some ill wind, was accidentally out of doors, and happening to come around the corner of the house and adving the sheet dangling from the window could not conjecture the meaning of its being there. So he caught hold and endeavored to bring it down. The girls above, supposing it to be the boys, began to host and did not discover the mistake until the old man's baid head was level with the sill, when one of them exclaimed, "lord, it's dad!" and let go her hold, which trightened her sister and she let go the sheet, and down came the old man on the stone walk, breaking his wrist and tearing his unmentionables. His cries brought out the household and several neighbors, and they removed him into the house. He is now busy cogitating whether to let the girls have their beaux in the parlor or to sue the young men for damages. The boys have not been around to offer any sympathy and probably won't until the old gentleman feels easier. of the girls, would thus gain entrance. It so happened

THE COLORADO VOLCANO.

DOES IT RESEMBLE THE MYSTERIOUS WONDER IN THE FLORIDA WILDERNESS? [From the Alta California.]

Several telegrams from Los Angeles have announced the breaking out of a voicans in the Colorado Desert, sixty miles from this side of Fort Yuma and eight miles north from the Southern Pacific Ratiroad. It seems to have started on the 11th inst., at nine A. M., or at least ports it has since, at various times, emitted black smoke, and we are told that it has thrown out rocks, but we suspect that the shaking of the mountain side in which the rupture has occurred may have caused the loose rocks to roll down. There is no mention of the loose rocks to roll down. There is no mention of any fiame, have or mud coming from the voicano, nor is it said that there was any earthquake shock, so the eroption is probably a one-horse after out of which no serious excitement can be made. Small as it may be, however, it deserves more attention than it has yet received. No person has yet visited it or given a description of its appearance as visible from the rainroad. In fact, there is room for suspicion that it belongs to a cass of phenomena previously observed in that region—we mean the mud voicances. These are really swamps or muddy pools through which hot steam rises from subterrainean sources, and it is said that sometimes black smoke accompanies the steam. These mud voicances, however, are in the plain, whereas the outbreak of the 11th inst. Is placed on a mountain side. If the eruption should continue the Academy of Noiences might organize an excursion to that hitle gate of Toplice. THE EXECUTED MOLLIES.

A DEFAULTER ACQUITTED.

AN EXTRADITED FUGITIAE LIKELY TO ESCAPE ON A TECHNICALITY.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE HERALD.]

Cincinnati, June 24, 1877.

A jury in the Criminal Court of Kenton county yesterday acquitted Smith N. Hawes, the defaulting City Treasurer, of one of four charges of lorgery, for which he was extradited from Canada some months. charges of forgery, for which he was extradited from Canada some months since. The extradition of Howes, it will be remembered, was the occasion of voluminous correspondence between Secretary Evurts and the Canadian government, the latter making the point that he could not be turned over to this government as a lugitive unless he was to be tried for a crime that was extraditable. Howev's desication was in the neighborhood of $30,000 of city funds, and the officers were more anxious not to try him for that than the forgery. Two of the other forgery indictments against Hawes have been tabled, and if ever he should be acquitted on the remaining one, as it seems likely he will be, the question will arise whether he shall not be poinged to return to Canada, the charge on which he was extradited having fathed to convict.

THE MISSOURI NATIONAL BANK. REPORT OF THE BANK EXAMINER-BAD PROS-

PECIS FOR THE CREDITORS. IBY TELEGRAPH TO THE HEBALD. 1

Sr. Louis, June 24, 1877. The bank examiner in this city, who has been investigating the affairs of the suspended National Bank of the State of Missourt, forwarded his report to Washington this evening, and the document shows the affairs of the bank to be in a deplorable condition so far as the stockholders are concerned.

FOOR PROSPECTS.

It is thought now they will be called on to pay additional sums to that invested in stock under the terms of the National Banking act making them liable for double the amount of stock.

There is not enough cash in the vaults to pay a respectable percentage on the deposits, and the prospects are it will be six months before any part of them is paid. The examiner thinks the deposits and finating debts will be finally paid, but that it will take two or three years to accomplied that result.

The revelation is also made that the five directors, in viciation of law, have been borrowing from the bank and that the sums borrowed will reach an aggregate of pearly $1,000,000.

W. P. Johnston, of Washington, will take possession of the bank to-morrow as a temporary receiver.

far as the stockholders are concerned.
